1. Details of the Issue

1.1 Description of the Issue

(a) Loyalty Options

The Company is making a pro rata bonus issue to Eligible Shareholders of two Loyalty Options for every fifteen Shares held at 7.00pm (AEDT) on the Record Date, to be issued for nil consideration.

Based on the capital structure of the Company as at the date of this Prospectus, up to approximately 82,692,474 Loyalty Options will be issued pursuant to the Issue (assuming there are no Ineligible Shareholders and no Existing Options are exercised before the Record Date). If the Existing Options are exercised before the Record Date, this number will increase by up to 6,762,292 Loyalty Options.

(b) Placement Options

The Issue also comprises the issue of 66,000,000 Placement Options to all Placement Participants on the basis of one Placement Option for every two Placement Shares subscribed through the Placement. As the Placement Participants will be issued with Placement Options in addition to the Placement Shares, they will not be offered the Loyalty Options.

(c) Terms of the Options

The Loyalty Options and the Placement Options will be offered on equivalent terms.

Each Option will entitle the holder to subscribe for one Share at the Exercise Price (being $0.06) on or before the Expiry Date (being 31 March 2019).

All of the Options will be issued on the terms and conditions set out in Section 4.3 of this Prospectus.

Fractional Entitlements to Options will be rounded down to the nearest whole Option.

The number of Options to be issued to you will be set out in a holding statement that will be dispatched to you on or as soon as possible after:

- for Eligible Shareholders who will receive Loyalty Options: 21 December 2017; and
- for Placement Participants who will receive Placement Options: receipt of Shareholder approval for the issue of the Placement Options at the General Meeting to be held in January 2018.

All of the Shares issued upon the future exercise of the Options offered under this Prospectus will rank equally with the Shares on issue at the date of this Prospectus. Please refer to Section 4.4 for a summary of the rights attaching to the Shares.

1.2 Purpose of the Issue

The purpose of the bonus issue of the Loyalty Options is to reward Eligible Shareholders for their continued support of the Company. The Placement Participants will also receive Placement Options as part of their subscription for the Placement Shares. The Issue will provide the Company with a potential source of additional capital if Options issued under this Prospectus are exercised. Any funds raised from the exercise of the Options will be used by the Company to complete XanADu, Actinogen's Phase II trial of Xanamem in Alzheimer's disease, and provide additional working capital for the Company to be used by the Company to meet ongoing working capital requirements of the Company.

No funds will be raised through the issue of the Options pursuant to this Prospectus, however if all the Options offered under this Prospectus are exercised, the Company will receive up to approximately $8,921,548 (based on a total of up to 148,692,474 Options being issued under this Prospectus, which number assumes that there are no Ineligible Shareholders and no Existing Options are exercised before the Record Date).

1.3 Eligible Shareholders to receive Loyalty Options

The Prospectus does not constitute an offer in any place in which, or to any person to whom, it would not be lawful to make such an offer.

The Company is of the view that it is unreasonable to offer Loyalty Options to Shareholders outside Australia and New Zealand, having regard to:

- (a) the number of those Shareholders;
- (b) the number and value of the Loyalty Options to be offered to those persons; and
- (c) the cost of complying with overseas legal requirements.

Accordingly, the offer of Loyalty Options is not being extended to any Shareholders whose registered address is outside Australia or New Zealand (unless the Company is satisfied that it is not precluded from lawfully issuing Loyalty Options to that Shareholder either unconditionally or after compliance with conditions which the Directors in its sole discretion regards as acceptable and not unduly onerous). The Company is not required to make offers under the Prospectus to Shareholders other than in Australia and New Zealand.

The offer of Loyalty Options is being made in New Zealand in reliance on the New Zealand Securities Act (Overseas Companies) Exemption Notice 2013. This document is not a prospectus or investment statement under New Zealand law and has not been registered or filed with, or approved by, any New Zealand regulatory authority under or in accordance with the New Zealand Securities Act 1978 or any other relevant law in New Zealand. This document may not contain all the information that an investment statement, or a prospectus under New Zealand law is required to contain.

1.4 Placement Participants to receive Placement Options

This Prospectus is also being sent to Placement Participants who have subscribed for Placement Shares under the Company's recent Placement. Eligibility to receive the Placement Options is limited to Placement Participants.

1.5 Action required by you

If you are an Eligible Shareholder, you do not need to take any action to receive your Entitlement. Likewise, if you are a Placement Participant, you do not need to take any action to be issued your Placement Options.

This Prospectus is issued in respect of the Loyalty Options without the requirement for an application form under an exemption provided by ASIC Corporations (Application Form Requirements) Instrument 2017/241.

The Placement Participants have already given their Placement Commitments for the Placement Options and no further application is required.

1.6 No minimum subscription

There is no minimum subscription for the offer of Options under this Prospectus.

1.7 Issue

(a) Loyalty Options

Eligible Shareholders are not required to do anything to be issued Loyalty Options. All Loyalty Options offered by this Prospectus are expected to be issued on or before 21 December 2017, and security holder statements sent as soon as possible thereafter.

(b) Placement Options

All Placement Options offered by this Prospectus are expected to be issued, and the Placement Participants will receive their security holder statements for the Placement Options, following Shareholder approval for the issue of the Placement Options at the General Meeting to be held in January 2018.

1.8 ASX Listing of the Options

The Company will apply to ASX within seven days after the date of this Prospectus for Official Quotation of the Options.

The fact that ASX may grant Official Quotation to the Options is not to be taken in any way as an indication of the merits of the Company or the Options offered under this Prospectus. If ASX does not grant Official Quotation of the Options offered pursuant to this Prospectus before the expiration of 3 months after the date of issue of the Prospectus (or such period as varied by ASIC), the Company will not issue any Options.

If granted, quotation of the Options will commence as soon as practicable after allotment of Options to Eligible Shareholders and Placement Participants (as applicable).

1.9 Taxation implications

The Directors do not consider it appropriate to give Shareholders advice regarding the taxation consequences of receiving Options under this Prospectus. The Company, its advisers and its officers do not accept any responsibility or liability for any such taxation consequences to Shareholders. As a result, Shareholders should consult their professional tax adviser in connection with receiving Options under this Prospectus.

1.10 Withdrawal

The Company reserves the right to withdraw the Issue, at any time before the allotment of the Options.

1.11 Enquiries concerning Prospectus

Enquiries concerning your Entitlement can be obtained by contacting the Company's share registry Link Market Services by telephone on (+61) 1300 554 474. Enquiries relating to this Prospectus should be directed to the Company Secretary by telephone on (02) 8964 7401.

2. Risk Factors

2.1 Factors influencing success and risk

Introduction

This section identifies the major risks the Directors believe are associated with an investment in the Company.

The Company's business is subject to risk factors, both specific to its business activities, and risks of a general nature. Individually, or in combination, these might affect the future operating performance of the Company and the value of an investment in the Company. There can be no guarantee that the Company will achieve its stated objectives or that any forward looking statements will eventuate. An investment in the Company should be considered in light of the relevant risks, both general and specific. Each of the risks set out below could, if it eventuates, have a material adverse impact on the Company's operating performance, and the market price of Securities (including Shares received on exercise of the Options offered under this Prospectus and the Options themselves if Official Quotation has been granted).

The Directors consider that the following summary, which is not exhaustive, represents some of the major risk factors which Securityholders need to be aware of in evaluating the Company's business and risks of increasing your investment in the Company. Before deciding to invest in the Company, potential investors should:

- (a) read the entire Prospectus;
- (b) consider the risk factors that could affect the Company's financial performance;
- (c) review these factors in light of their personal circumstances; and
- (d) seek professional advice from their accountant, stockbroker, lawyer or other professional adviser before deciding whether to invest.

The principal risks include, but are not limited to, the following:

2.2 Risks specific to the Options

Exercise price

There is a risk that the prevailing market price for Shares at the time of exercise of the Options offered under this Prospectus may be less than the Exercise Price.

2.3 Company specific investment risks

Products in development and not approved for commercial sale

The Company's ability to achieve profitability is dependent on a number of factors, including its ability to complete successful clinical trials (including XanADu), obtain regulatory approval for its products (including Xanamem) and successfully commercialise those products. There is no guarantee that the Company's products (including Xanamem) will be commercially successful.

The Company does not currently generate revenue from product sales and no such revenue is anticipated in the short to medium term.

There are many reasons why initially promising products fail to be successfully commercialised. For example, clinical trials (including XanADu) may be suspended for safety or efficacy reasons (see further below), following development it may prove difficult or impossible to manufacture the products on a large scale, or, during the period of development, competitors (including those with greater resources) may emerge with competing or alternative treatments.

Clinical trial risk

The Company may be unable to secure necessary approvals from regulatory agencies and institutional bodies (clinics and hospitals) to conduct future clinical trials (including XanADu). There is also no assurance that products developed using the Company's technology will prove to be safe and efficacious in clinical trials (including XanADu), or that the regulatory approval to manufacture and market its products will be received. Clinical trials (including XanADu) might also potentially expose the Company to product liability claims in the event its products in development have unexpected effects on clinical subjects.

Clinical trials (including XanADu) undertaken by the Company have many associated risks which may impact the Company's profitability and future productions and commercial potential. They may prove unsuccessful or non efficacious, impracticable or costly. The clinical trials (including XanADu) could be terminated which will likely have a significant adverse effect on the Company, the value of its Securities and the future commercial development of Xanamem.

Regulatory and reimbursement approvals

The research, development, manufacture, marketing and sale of products using the Company's technology are subject to varying degrees of regulation by a number of government authorities in Australia and overseas.

Products, including Xanamem, developed using the Company's technology must undergo a comprehensive and highly regulated development and review process before receiving approval for marketing. The process includes the provision of clinical data relating to the quality, safety and efficacy of the products for their proposed use.

Products may also be submitted for reimbursement approval. The availability and timing of that reimbursement approval may have an impact upon the uptake and profitability of products in some jurisdictions.

Furthermore, any of the products utilising the Company's technology may be shown to be unsafe, non-efficacious, difficult or impossible to manufacture on a large scale, uneconomical to market, compete with superior products marketed by third parties or not be as attractive as alternative treatments.

Commercialisation of products and potential market failure

The Company has not yet commercialised its technology and accordingly has no material revenues.

The Company is also dependent on commercially attractive markets remaining available to it during the commercialisation phase and there is a risk that, once developed and ready for sale, commercial sales, to fund sufficient revenues for continued operations and growth, may not be achieved.

Dependence upon key personnel

The Company depends on the talent and experience of its personnel as its primary asset. There may be a negative impact on the Company if any of its key personnel leave. It may be difficult to replace them, or to do so in a timely manner or at comparable expense. Additionally, any key personnel of the Company who leave to work for a competitor may adversely impact the Company. Increases in recruitment, wages and contractor costs may adversely impact upon the financial performance of the Company.

Third party contractors

The Company may be dependent on the continuous efficient functioning of various specialist third-party contractors to achieve various milestones, including clinical research organisations (CRO's), such as ICON (responsible for the global conduct of clinical trials such as XanADu), regulatory affairs contractors, pharmaceutical drug manufacturers, toxicology services and others, to complete the development and commercialisation of its products. Failure of any of these contractors to effectively service the Company's needs may compromise the ongoing development of the Company's products, such as Xanamem.

Arrangements with third-party collaborators

The Company may pursue collaborative arrangements with pharmaceutical and life science companies, academic institutions or other partners to complete the development and commercialisation of its products. These collaborators may be asked to assist with funding or performing clinical trials, manufacturing, regulatory approvals or product marketing. There is no assurance that the Company will attract and retain appropriate strategic partners or that any such collaborators will perform and meet commercialisation goals. If the Company is unable to find a partner, it would be required to develop and commercialise Xanamem (and other potential products) at its own expense. This may place significant demands on the Company's internal resources and potentially delay the commercialisation of Xanamem (and other products).

Risk of delay and continuity of operations

The Company may experience delay in achieving a number of critical milestones, including securing commercial partners, completion of clinical trials (including XanADu), obtaining regulatory approvals, manufacturing, product launch and sales. Any material delays may impact adversely upon the Company, including the timing of any revenues under milestone or sales payments.

The Company may also experience business continuity problems arising from extreme events. As with most businesses, the Company is reliant on IT systems in its day-to-day operations. An inability to operate such systems would impact the business. This might result, for example, from a computer virus or other cyber attack or from a physical event at its offices.

Competition

The biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries are intensely competitive and subject to rapid and significant technological change. A number of companies, both in Australia and abroad, may be pursuing the development of products that target the same markets that the Company is targeting.

The Company's products may compete with existing alternative treatments that are already available to customers. In addition, a number of companies, both in Australia and abroad, may be pursuing the development of products that target the same conditions that the Company is targeting. Some of these companies may have, or develop, technologies superior to the Company's own technology. The Company may face competition from parties who have substantially greater resources than the Company.

Requirement to raise additional funds

The Company may be required to raise additional equity or debt capital in the future. There is no assurance that it will be able to raise that capital when it is required or, even if available, the terms may be unsatisfactory. If the Company is unsuccessful in obtaining funds when they are required, the Company may need to delay or scale down its operations.

Growth

There is a risk that the Company may be unable to manage its future growth successfully. The ability to hire and retain skilled personnel as outlined above may be a significant obstacle to growth.

Intellectual property

The Company's ability to leverage its innovation and expertise depends upon its ability to protect its intellectual property and any improvements to it. The intellectual property may not be capable of being legally protected, it may be the subject of unauthorised disclosure or be unlawfully infringed, or the Company may incur substantial costs in asserting or defending its intellectual property rights.

2.4 General investment risks

Equity market investments

It is important to recognise that, the underlying value of the Options, and any Shares issued on exercise of the Options, might rise or fall and the Shares might trade at prices below or above the Exercise Price. There can be no assurance that there will be an active trading market for the Options or Shares.

Equity market conditions may affect the value of the Company's quoted securities regardless of the Company's operating performance. Share market conditions are affected by many factors such as:

- (a) general economic outlook;
- (b) introduction of tax reform or other new legislation;
- (c) interest rates and inflation rates;
- (d) changes in investor sentiment toward particular market sectors;
- (e) the demand for, and supply of, capital; and
- (f) terrorism or other hostilities.

The market price of securities can fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general and technology stocks in particular. Neither the Company nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.

Economic and government risks

The future viability of the Company is also dependent on a number of other factors affecting performance of all industries and not just the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries including, but not limited to, the following:

- (a) general economic conditions in jurisdictions in which the Company operates;
- (b) changes in government policies, taxation (such as the Commonwealth R&D Tax Incentive scheme) and other laws in jurisdictions in which the Company operates;
- (c) the strength of the equity and share markets in Australia and throughout the world, and in particular investor sentiment towards the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries;
- (d) movement in, or outlook on, interest rates and inflation rates in jurisdictions in which the Company operates; and
- (e) natural disasters, social upheaval or war in jurisdictions in which the Company operates.

Accounting standards

Australian accounting standards are set by the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) and are outside the Directors' and the Company's control. Changes to accounting standards issued by AASB could materially adversely affect the financial performance and position reported in the Company's financial statements.

Taxation risks

Changes to the rate of taxes imposed on the Company (including in overseas jurisdictions in which the Company operates now or in the future) or tax legislation generally may affect the Company and its Securityholders (such as the Commonwealth R&D Tax Incentive scheme). In addition, an interpretation of Australian taxation laws by the Australian Taxation Office that differs to the Company's interpretation may lead to an increase in the Company's taxation liabilities and a reduction in Securityholder returns.

Personal tax liabilities are the responsibility of each individual investor. The Company is not responsible either for taxation or penalties incurred by investors.

Litigation

The Company is exposed to the risk of actual or threatened litigation or legal disputes in the form of customer claims, intellectual property claims, personal injury claims, employee claims and other litigation and disputes. If any claim was successfully pursued it may adversely impact the financial performance, financial position, cash flow and share price of the Company. There is, however, no litigation currently underway or threatened.

2.5 Cautionary statement

Statements contained in this Prospectus may be forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology such as, but not limited to, 'may', 'will', 'expect', 'anticipate', 'estimate', 'would be', 'believe', or 'continue' or the negative or other variations of comparable terminology. These statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected.

The Directors' expectations and beliefs are expressed in good faith and are believed to have a reasonable basis, including without limitation, based on the examination of historical operating trends, data contained in the Company's records and other data available from third parties. There can be no assurance, however, that their expectations or beliefs will give the results projected in the forward looking statements. Investors should not place undue reliance on these forward looking statements.

Additional factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated in the forward looking statements are discussed earlier in this section.

2.6 Investment speculative

The above list of risk factors ought not to be taken as exhaustive of the risks faced by the Company or by investors in the Company. The above factors, and others not specifically referred to above, may in the future materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the value of the Options offered under this Prospectus. Therefore, the Options to be issued pursuant to this Prospectus carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, returns of capital or the market value of those Options.

Potential investors should consider that an investment in the Company is highly speculative and should consult their professional advisers.

3. Effect of the Issue

3.1 Effect of the Issue

The Issue will not result in any additional Shares being issued (other than those Shares that are issued if any of the Options or Existing Options are exercised).

There are 620,193,558 Shares on issue as at the date of this Prospectus.

There are 50,717,188 Existing Options to acquire 50,717,188 Shares on issue as at the date of this Prospectus, as set out in further detail in Section 4.5.

In addition, 66,000,000 Placement Options are to be issued.

3.2 Effect on Balance Sheet

The issue of the Options under this Prospectus will not raise any funds and will not have any material effect on the Company's financial position. Cash reserves will decrease by approximately $40,440 (being the costs of the Issue). Up to approximately $8,921,548 (before costs) will be raised if all the Options are exercised (based on a total of up to 148,692,474 Options being issued under this Prospectus, which number assumes that there are no Ineligible Shareholders and no Existing Options are exercised prior to the Record Date).

4. Additional information

4.1 Company is a disclosing entity

This Prospectus is a 'transaction specific prospectus' issued according to section 713 Corporations Act as a prospectus for the issue of options to acquire continuously quoted securities (as defined in the Corporations Act).

In general terms, a transaction specific prospectus is only required to contain information in relation to the effect of the issue of securities on a company and the rights attaching to the securities. It is not necessary to include general information in relation to all of the assets and liabilities, financial position, profits and losses or prospects of the issuing company.

The Company is a disclosing entity under the Corporations Act. It is subject to regular reporting and disclosure obligations under both the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules. Specifically, as a listed company, the Company is subject to the Listing Rules which require disclosure to ASX of any information the Company has which a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of its Securities.

This Prospectus is intended to be read in conjunction with the publically available information in relation to the Company which has been notified to ASX and does not include all of the information that would be included in a prospectus for an initial public offering of securities in an entity that is not already listed on a stock exchange.
