

ACTINOGEN MEDICAL LIMITED

Corporate Governance Policies

Securities Trading Policy

Adopted by the Board 10 August 2026

1. Introduction

The shares of Actinogen Medical Limited (Company) are listed on the Australian Securities Exchange (ASX).

This policy outlines:

- (a) when Directors, senior management and other employees of the Company may deal in Company Securities;
- (b) when Directors, senior management and other employees of the Company may deal in securities of another publicly traded entity (because they may obtain inside information about another entity's securities while performing their duties for the Company); and
- (c) procedures to reduce the risk of insider trading.

This policy is not intended to be exhaustive of your legal obligations and, in addition, you should also seek your own legal, financial and tax advice before trading in any of the Company's Securities. The requirements imposed by this policy are separate from, and in addition to, the legal prohibitions in the Corporations Act on insider trading.

2. Defined Terms

In this policy:

Black Out Periods means:

- (a) from the last day of the month of a fiscal quarter (currently 31 March, 30 June, 30 September and 31 December) to and including the second trading day after the public announcement of the financial results of the quarter;
- (b) from the last day of the financial year (currently 30 June) to and including the second trading day after the public announcement of the financial results of the year;
- (c) from the last day of the half financial year (currently 31 December) to and including the second trading day after the public announcement of the half yearly financial results of the half year; and
- (d) such other periods as the Company may notify from time to time, for example, where the Company was considering a major transaction that could have a material effect on the stock price.

Clearance Officer means persons appointed by the Company from time to time who are responsible for processing the securities dealing clearance.

Closely Related Party means:

- (a) a spouse or child of a member of Key Management Personnel or their spouse;
- (b) a dependant a member of Key Management Personnel or their spouse; or

- (c) anyone else who is one of a member of Key Management Personnel's family who may be expected to influence the member, or be influenced by the member, in the member's dealings with the entity; or a company or trust a member of Key Management Personnel control.

Company Securities includes shares, debentures, a right or interest in a share or debenture, options over an issued or unissued share or debenture, Derivatives and any other financial products of the Company traded on any stock exchange.

Derivatives means products such as warrants, exchange-traded and over-the-counter options and contracts for differences, which are issued over or in respect of the Company Securities.

Designated Person means a Director or person having authority for planning, directing and controlling the activities of the Company, directly or indirectly, whether as an employee or consultant, and any other person who, from time to time, is notified by the Company that they are deemed a designated person.

Key Management Personnel means a person having authority and responsibility for planning, directing and controlling the activities of the Company, directly or indirectly, including any Director (whether executive or otherwise) of the Company.

Securities Dealing Clearance Request means the form set out as Attachment B to this policy.

3. Insider Trading

If a person has information about securities and the person knows, or ought reasonably to know, that the information is inside information, it is illegal for the person to:

- (a) deal in the securities;
- (b) procure another person to deal in the securities; or
- (c) give the information to another person (also known as "tipping") who the person knows, or ought reasonably to know, is likely to:
 - (i) deal in the securities; or
 - (ii) procure someone else to deal in the securities.

Insider trading is a criminal offence. It is punishable by substantial fines or imprisonment or both. A company may also be liable if an employee or Director engages in insider trading.

Insider trading may also attract civil penalties. A court may impose substantial pecuniary penalties for insider trading and order payment of compensation to persons who suffer loss or damage because of insider trading.

4. What is Inside information?

Inside information is information that:

- (a) is not generally available; and

- (b) if it were generally available, would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly invest in securities in deciding whether to acquire or dispose of the relevant securities.

Information is generally available if it:

- (a) is readily observable;
- (b) has been made known in a manner likely to bring it to the attention of persons who commonly invest in securities of the relevant type and a reasonable period for that information to be disseminated has elapsed since it was made known; or
- (c) consists of deductions, conclusions or inferences made or drawn from information falling under paragraphs 4(a) or 4(b) above.

If a person possesses inside information about the Company's Securities or other secured financing arrangements, they are prohibited from trading, even where:

- (a) the trading occurs outside a Black Out Period as specified in this policy;
- (b) the trading falls within an exclusion in paragraph 13 of this policy; or
- (c) they have been given clearance under paragraph 11 of this policy to trade.

5. What is Dealing in Securities?

Dealing in securities includes:

- (a) applying for, acquiring, or disposing of, securities; and
- (b) entering into an agreement to apply for, acquire, or dispose of, securities.

6. When Employees May Deal

An employee (who is not a Designated Person) may deal in Company Securities or the listed securities of another entity if he or she does not have information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to Company Securities or those securities of the other entity.

7. When Employees May Not Deal

An employee (who is not a Designated Person) may not deal or procure another person to deal in Company Securities or the listed securities of another entity if he or she has information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to Company Securities or those securities of the other entity.

8. When a Designated Person May Deal

A Designated Person may only deal in Company Securities if he or she has complied with paragraph 11 below.

A Designated Person may deal in the securities of another publicly traded entity if he or she does not have information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to those securities.

9. When a Designated Person May Not Deal

Subject to paragraph 10, a Designated Person may not deal or procure another person to deal in Company Securities:

- (a) during Black Out Periods;
- (b) if he or she has information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to Company Securities; or
- (c) if he or she has not complied with paragraph 11 below.

A Designated Person may not deal or procure another person to deal in the listed securities of another entity if he or she has information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to those securities.

10. Exceptional Circumstances

A Designated Person, who is not in possession of inside information in relation to Company Securities, may seek clearance from a Clearance Officer in accordance with paragraph 11 to sell or otherwise dispose of Company Securities during a Black Out Period in any of the following exceptional circumstances:

- (a) if the Designated Person is in severe financial hardship. A Designated Person may be in severe financial hardship if he or she has a pressing financial commitment that cannot be satisfied otherwise than by selling the relevant Company Securities;
- (b) if the Designated Person is required by a court order, or there are other enforceable undertakings, for example in a bona fide family settlement, to transfer or sell the Company Securities or there is some other overriding legal or regulatory requirement for the Designated Person to do so;
- (c) in any other circumstances that may be deemed exceptional by the Chairman of the Company (or the Board if the Chairman is involved).

The Designated Person seeking clearance must satisfy a Clearance Officer or the Chairman or the Board (as applicable) that the Designated Person is in severe financial hardship or that their circumstances are otherwise exceptional and that the proposed sale or disposal of the relevant Company Securities is the only reasonable course of action available.

11. Securities Dealing Clearance

Before dealing in Company Securities, a Designated Person must submit a Securities Dealing Clearance Request.

A Clearance Officer may only give clearance during periods that are not Black Out Periods or in any of the exceptional circumstances listed in paragraph 10. However, a Clearance Officer may not give clearance during those periods or circumstances if:

- (a) there is a matter about which there is inside information in relation to Company Securities (whether or not the Designated Person knows about the matter) when the Designated Person requests clearance or proposes to deal in Company Securities; and
- (b) a Clearance Officer has any other reason to believe that the proposed dealing breaches this policy.

Any clearance given by a Clearance Officer shall be for a specified duration as determined by a Clearance Officer.

A Clearance Officer must keep a written record of:

- (a) any information received from a Designated Person in connection with this policy; and
- (b) any clearance given under this policy.

Where clearance to trade is refused or withdrawn, You must keep that information confidential and not disclose the fact that your clearance to trade has been refused or withdrawn.

Any clearance to trade is only in respect of the operation of this policy and is not an endorsement of the proposed trade nor is it confirmation by the Company that you do not have Inside Information.. You remain personally responsible for any decision to trade in Company Securities and for compliance with relevant laws.

Any clearance given under this paragraph 11 will immediately cease where the Designated Person is in possession of inside information about the Company Securities prior to or while trading.

12. Dealings by Associated Persons and Investment Managers

If a Designated Person may not deal in the Company Securities, he or she must take all reasonable and necessary steps to prevent any dealing in the Company Securities by:

- (a) any associated person (including family or nominee companies and family trusts); or
- (b) any investment manager on their behalf or on behalf of any associated person.

13. Excluded Trading

Notwithstanding paragraphs 9(a) and 9(c) but subject to paragraph 9(b), the following types of trading are excluded from the operation of this policy:

- (a) transfers of Company Securities already held by a Designated Person into a superannuation fund or other saving scheme in which the Designated Person is a beneficiary;
- (b) an investment in, or trading in units of, a fund or other scheme (other than a scheme only investing in the Company Securities) where the assets of the fund or other scheme are invested at the discretion of a third party;
- (c) where a Designated Person is a trustee, trading in Company Securities by that trust provided the Designated Person is not a beneficiary of the trust and any decision to trade during a Black Out Period is taken by the other trustees or by the investment managers independently of the Designated Person;

- (d) undertakings to accept, or acceptance of, a takeover offer or scheme of arrangement;
- (e) trading under an offer or invitation made to all or most of the Company Security holders, such as, a rights issue, a security purchase plan, a dividend or distribution reinvestment plan and an equal access buy-back, where the plan that determines the timing and structure of the offer has been approved by the board of the Company. This includes decisions relating to whether or not to take up the entitlements and the sale of entitlements required to provide for the take up of the balance of entitlements under a renounceable pro rata issue;
- (f) a disposal of Company Securities that is the result of a secured lender exercising their rights, for example, under a margin lending arrangement;
- (g) the obtaining by a director of a share qualification;
- (h) the acquisition of Company Securities under an employee incentive scheme;
- (i) the exercise (but not the sale of securities following exercise) of an option or a right under an employee incentive scheme, or the conversion of a convertible security (but not the sale of securities following exercise);
- (j) the exercise of any option, the conversion under a convertible security or the subscription under a disclosure document which has been lodged with ASIC (but not the sale of securities following exercise) where the exercise, conversion or subscription results in the issue (rather than transfer) of new securities in the Company; and
- (k) trading under a non-discretionary trading plan for which prior written clearance has been provided by a Clearance Officer and where:
 - (i) the Designated Person did not enter into the plan or amend the plan during a Black Out Period; and
 - (ii) the trading plan does not permit the Designated Person to exercise any influence or discretion over how, when, or whether to trade.

14. Communicating Inside Information

If an employee (including a Designated Person) has information that he or she knows, or ought reasonably to know, is inside information in relation to Company Securities or the listed securities of another entity, the employee has a duty to:

- (a) keep that information confidential;
- (b) take all reasonable steps to secure and keep secure that information in their possession; and
- (c) not disclose or communicate that information to any person (except a Clearance Officer) without the prior written consent of the Board.

15. Hedging Prohibition

A member of the Key Management Personnel and their Closely Related Parties must not enter into an arrangement with anyone if that arrangement would have the effect of limiting the exposure of the member to risk relating to an element of the member's remuneration that:

- (a) has not vested in the member; or
- (b) has vested in the member but remains subject to a holding lock.

Without limiting paragraph 15(a), remuneration that is not payable to a member until a particular day is, until that day, remuneration that has not vested in the member.

16. Acknowledgement of this Policy

To promote compliance with the insider trading prohibitions under the Corporations Act as well as this policy, a copy of this policy will be distributed to all employees and directors upon induction.

Each employee (including a Designated Person) shall be required to provide to the Company an acknowledgement of this policy in the form in Attachment A.

17. Breach of Policy

A breach of this policy by an employee (including a Designated Person) may lead to disciplinary action. It may also be a breach of the law.

18. Assistance and Additional Information

Employees (including Designated Persons) who are unsure about any information they may have in their possession, and whether they can use that information for dealing in securities, should contact a Clearance Officer.

19. Review

This policy will be periodically reviewed to ensure it continues to operate effectively and will be amended as required from time to time.

If any material changes are to be made to this policy, the Company must give the amended policy to the ASX company announcements office for release to the market within 5 days of the material changes taking effect.
